

A room designed by ASH Staging in the L.A. showhouse.

Photo: Christian Harder

“Our work is focused on elevating the result so that it doesn’t even look like staging,” says Andrew Bowen, head of staging at ASH. “The response has been so positive, with people saying, ‘We need you out here, there isn’t anything like this available.’”